President Signs Immigration Bill Carrying Japanese Exclusion

UNION OF PRESBYTERIAN GROUPS MAY BE EFFECTED

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Definite indications of the possibility of a union of the two groups of presbyterians in this country was seen today in an announcement that Dr. Thornton Whaling, Moderator of the Presbyterian church in the United States (South) will pay a friendly visit tomorrow to the 136th General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, now in annual session here.

It will be the first time a Moderator of the Southern church has ever visited the assembly of the parent body.

That Dr. Whaling's visit may strengthen the cause of the Fundamentalists, was indicated last night by Dr. Clarence D. McCortney, Moderator of the assembly here. He said that the greatest barrier before reunification of the two groups has been a "suspicion on the part of the Southern church of the orthodoxy of the Northern Church."

The assembly today unanimously adopted a resolution pledging itself to the carrying of war and to the hastening of the day when nations shall learn to war no more.

The resolution was adopted after efforts to amend it to provide an agency to crystallize the peace sentiment had been beaten. An amendment to insert in the resolution a sentence dedicating the full support of members of the church to the nation, should the country become involved in war, was overwhelmingly defeated.

The resolution set forth that the church "refuses to believe that the wholesale slaughter of human beings upon the battle field is morally any less necessary to the highest development than is killing by the individual." It sees in war a definite challenge to the followers of the Prince of Peace and invited the co-operation of all Christians in a determined effort to bring such complete machinery for peace as shall insure the settlement of all international controversies by reason instead of force.

House Follows Senate In Passing The Tax Cut Bill

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 26.—(By the United Press)—The new compromise tax bill today received final approval by the house. Passed by the senate Saturday, by a 60 to 6 vote, the house added its overwhelming endorsement to the measure, forecasting easy success in overriding a veto, if President Coolidge disapproves it.

The technical action came on a vote to accept the report of the conferees who drafted the compromise.

The measure provides an immediate 25 per cent reduction in taxes due and payable this year on 1923 incomes. The Democratic normal tax rates, ranging from 2 to 6 per cent with surtaxes ranging from one per cent on $10,000 to 40 per cent on $500,000, increased estate and gift taxes and a provision authorizing publicly the amount of taxes paid by individuals and corporations but not of their returns.

The vote was 378 to 9. The nine negative vote cast by Representatives Vann, Murfin and Tison, of Connecticut; Hill, of Maryland; McCadden and Phillips, of Pennsylvania; Mills and Walworth, of New York; and Moore, of Indiana, all Republicans.

All together only fifteen votes were cast against the conference bills in both chambers, the senate having approved it, 60 to 6.

FOURTEEN DEATHS FROM VIOLENCE IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, O., May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—With four persons dead in automobile accidents, four drowned, three suicides, one accidental shooting, one death from poison liquor, and one stabbing, violent deaths in Ohio over the week-end today amounted to fourteen.

Three Cleveland youths, John Dugan, 15, Raymond Meyers, 20 and Roy Wilbur were killed when their car plunged over a cliff and dropped 75 feet into the Black River, five miles north of Ellettsville, early yesterday. Two other youths in the car, Edward Barrett, 19, and Patrick Gleason, 21, are in an Ellettsville hospital, the former suffering internal injuries and the latter cuts and bruises.

Andrew P. Gusek, 64, secretary-treasurer of the Wiles Grocery Company, of Zanesville, who disappeared two weeks ago and was not found for two days, committed suicide by drowning in the Licking river at Zanesville.

Three negro youths, spending the week-end at a Y. M. C. A. camp near Aurora, were drowned when their row boat capsized. Duke Jackson, 9, a white youth, was drowned in Sugar Creek, when his boat sprang a leak and sank.

Samuel Saurborn, 32, Baltimore and Ohio detective, died of a bullet wound received when his revolver slipped out of his pocket while he was bending over a table, the bullet entering his lung.

John Lee died in a Cleveland hospital from wounds said by police to have been inflicted by his wife following a quarrel.

Francis Wilson, 18, is said by police to have died at East Liverpool from effects of drinking what is believed to have been poison liquor.

Berry Wigdon, 57, of Stratford, south of Delaware, was killed when the automobile skidded and turned over in a ditch on the Sunbury Pike east of Delaware.

Joseph R. Trotter, Norfolk and Western Railroad employee, for 37 years, committed suicide here last night by cutting his throat.

Louis Kuba, 49, was found hanging from the rafters in the attic of his home in Akron. Ill health was given as the cause.

Figures in Chicago Kidnaping Murder

The Victim Police Questioned Them

Chicago Police are confronted with one of the most puzzling murders in the city's history. Robert Franks (above), 13-year-old son of Jacob Franks, millionaire retired watchmaker, was kidnapped as he left the fashionable private school (below) where he was attending, and the slain detective attended and the slain detective attended and the slain detective attended.

C. E. Pence, principal, and Walter L. Wilson, an instructor in the Harvard school, of which Robert Franks was a pupil, were questioned by police. Chief of Police Morgan Collins declared they were called in for any information that might shed light as to the kid's friends and movements on the day of his disappearance and death. Other members of the faculty also were questioned. None was held.

Other Nations' Quotas Fixed At 2 Percent of 1890 Census

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 26.—(By the United Press)—President Coolidge today signed the immigration bill, providing for exclusion of Japanese effective July 1st. The bill thus becomes law.

In addition to the Japanese exclusion clause, the provisions of the law provide:

Quotas of all countries are fixed at two per cent based on foreign born population in this country, according to the 1890 census.

After July 1, 1927, immigration will be limited to 150,000 each country getting a quota in this figure according to national origin of foreign populations in the United States as shown by the 1920 census.

To prevent congestion and other difficulties at American ports, consular offices abroad may not issue visas more than 10 per cent of the country's quota in any month.

Allen seamen of vessels touching at American ports may not land except for medical treatment.

Wives and children of American citizens and citizens of Canada and all women from countries whose names are excluded from the quota provision.

Japan, through her envoy here, Ambassador Hirohara, filed a protest last winter against the measure adopted upon today by the president.

He sent a communication to Secretary Hughes protesting against the bill then pending in congress. This never was made public, however. Later Hughes sent a letter to congress giving the state department's objections, but congress ignored this.

When the bill came up for action in congress, the Japanese ambassador gave his famous note warning that enactment of the proposed law would result in grave consequences to the relations between the United States and Japan.

Hughes was somewhat shocked at this statement in Ambassador's note, an analysis of it indicated that it contained no serious threat to the United States.

Coolidge Refuses To Yield To Senators; Sticks To Court Plan

WASHINGTON, May 26.—President Coolidge does not intend to become an expediency Executive. On the first tests which are facing him—whether to yield to party exigencies or remain consistent with his announced attitude—Mr. Coolidge has chosen the path of logic and not politics.

Mr. Coolidge's conferences with the Republican members of the Senate Foreign Relations committee have been the subject of much talk during the past week and details are just becoming known. Mr. Coolidge had been urged to abandon the position he took on the world court and to support another plan sponsored by either Senator Lodge or Senator Pepper, both of whom object to the fact that the present court was created by the League of Nations and that judges for

NO SOLUTION TO CHICAGO'S KIDNAPPING MYSTERIES

Confesses To Acts of Perversion CHICAGO, May 26.—(By the United Press)—Molt Turk Mitchell, 52, instructor and part owner of Harvard private school, here has admitted acts of perversion, the office of State's Attorney Robert H. Crown announced today in connection with the investigation of the mysterious kidnapping and slaying of Robert Franks, fourteen-year-old son of a Chicago millionaire. Mitchell confessed he had been guilty of numerous acts of perversion and he had been a psychopathic case since the age of seven, an attaché stated. He said the statement had been authorized by Crown. Mitchell denied any connection with the Franks murder.

Victim's Father His Teacher

Jacob Franks, father of murdered Robert Franks, had started from home with $10,000 ransom demand in a telephone call on his course before news reached him his son was kidnapped. He forgot the fact that he had reached home again to get it, only to receive word the body had been found.

R. P. Williams, athletic instructor at Harvard school, of which Robert Franks, murdered Chicago boy, was a pupil, also was questioned after after the body had been found. Like Principal Pence and Walter Wilson, another faculty member, he was released.

Merchants Contest One Way Ordinance

CINCINNATI, O., May 26.—(By the United Press)—Tonight, lost their first battle to have Cincinnati's one way street traffic ordinance rescinded, when Judge Elich ruled that Edward T. Baumgartner was guilty of violating the traffic law. Appeal was taken immediately. Baumgartner is acting for a group of Main street merchants who claim that because of the one way traffic ordinance, the street has become dangerous for pedestrians and their business fallen off as much as forty per cent. Judge Elich, in taking up this angle, said it was another case where the good community must yield to the good of the community.

The two girls are reported to be in a serious condition.

Engagement of Mrs. Lydig and Rev. Percy Grant Terminated

NEW YORK, May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—The engagement of Mrs. Rita Acosta Lydig and the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant, rector of the Church of the Ascension, has been terminated because of the refusal of Bishop William T. Manning to give his consent to the marriage in the Protestant Episcopal Church.

An announcement to this effect was given last night to the Presbyterian Minister Lydig. The engagement was formally announced in August, 1921, and attracted wide attention because of Mrs. Lydig's social prominence and Dr. Grant's activity as a Modernist leader in the Episcopal Church.

The withholding of consent to the marriage is in accordance with a strict canon of the Episcopal Church, prohibiting remarriage of a divorced person except under specific conditions. Mrs. Lydig's divorce from Philip M. Lydig was obtained in Paris in 1919, on grounds that did not meet the requirements of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Lydig's first husband was W. E.

Disorders In The Rhineland

BERLIN, May 26.—(By the United Press)—Red outrages lurked in the Ruhr today, Communists dynamiting the police station at Stadenburg and hurling hand grenades into the smoking ruins to complete destruction.

The commandant at Bielefeld in the Rhineland, fearing further evidence of the kind, notified the Reds that a neutral zone had been established. If the line is overstepped by possible violators, the trespassers will be subject to immediate death, he warned. Further demonstrations and sabotage have been planned by Communists leaders tomorrow. Efforts to end the mine strike and lockout of 600,000 workers, the cause of the disorders, continue.

Mirage Sent Major Martin Off His Course Into Mountain

BELLINGHAM, WASH., May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—A mirage sent Major Frederick L. Martin, former commander of the United States army around the world flight, off his course and was directly responsible for the navigation of his plane to a wrecking fall against a mountain near Port Moller on April 30, Major Martin said yesterday when he arrived from Alaska on the steamship Catherine D. He was accompanied by his mechanic staff sergeant, Alvin L. Harvey. Before he told in detail of his aerial experience, Major Martin was reunited with his family, Mrs. Martin and their son Bobby, eight years of age.

Major Martin explained that he was drawn away from the Pacific by the mirage on April 30, soon after his plane left Chicago. He was taken off his course in a northwesterly direction. "The weather was foggy and the clouds low," Major Martin said. "I changed my course, heading south, but suddenly hit the side of the mountain. I was hit ten feet lower, was crushed on a gradual slope, and the plane slid about 100 feet tearing it to pieces."

Major Martin broke his nose, but Sergeant Harvey was uninjured. Major Martin will leave Seattle tomorrow for Washington.

Two messages from General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service, were handed Major Martin at Bellingham. The first dated May 12, directed him and Sergeant Harvey to report at once at Washington.

It also stated plans to "send you east to rejoin the flight at the farthest convenient point from which you can complete your journey with the rest of your command."

The other telegram cancelled the order sending Harvey to Washington and assigned him to Chanute Field, Ill., but this was interpreted by Major Martin as meaning that the plan to send him to Europe had been abandoned.

"If another Douglas cruiser was available, I would like nothing better than to rejoin the other fliers in Eu-

Harry Albertson Is Victim; Body Recovered

Caulking failing to hold in a boat he had just repaired yesterday, resulted in the drowning of Harry Albertson, 32, well known resident of McDermott, Sunday evening in Brush Creek, the scene of the drowning being about 300 yards from the man's home. The drowning occurred about 6:30 o'clock while Albertson was crossing the creek to fish. The body was recovered about an hour later near the spot where it disappeared. Two brothers-in-law, Henry Braden and Paris Edgington, were on the shore when the boat filled with water and went down, Braden jumping in and swimming to the aid of the drowning man after he had given one cry for help.

Brush Creek at the point where the drowning occurred, is about a 100 feet wide and Albertson was only about 15 feet from the shore when his boat went to the bottom. Calculating he had placed in seams in the boat earlier in the day, failed to hold and water poured into the craft faster than he could dip it out.

Albertson who was employed as a hoisting engineer at the Waller Bros. stone plant in McDermott had fished in the creek near his home many times. Yesterday evening the brothers-in-law, helped Albertson carry the boat to the stream. He climbed in at once intending to fish from the opposite bank. Braden and Edgington remained on the shore and watched Albertson row about 50 feet across the creek. They noticed the boat settling deeper in the water but thought that Albertson would travel the other 15 feet to the shore without accident. Such was not to be for the boat filled rapidly and realizing his difficulty, Albertson gave a cry for help. Braden jerked off his coat and jumped into the stream and was within about ten feet of the drowning man when he went down for the last time.

Within a short time Braden and Edgington were joined in the search for the body by other men from the neighborhood and it was about an hour after the drowning that the body was brought to the surface.

John Koch hooked the body, the grappling hooks catching in the cuff of the trousers. Frank Waller was in the boat with Koch.

Coroner Called

Coroner Virgil Fowler was called and he ordered the body removed from the water. Undertaker W. L. Reeg of Lucasville was called and he prepared the body for burial at the home. The face was bruised in several places.

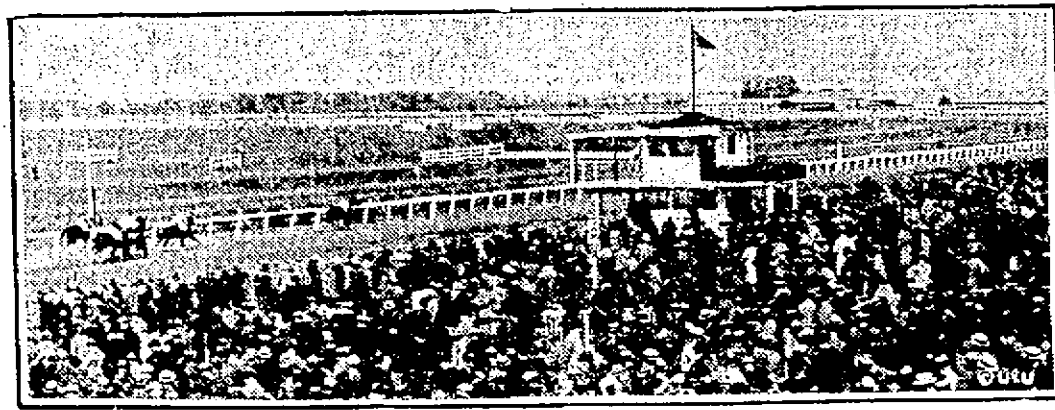

Albertson was born and reared in the McDermott neighborhood where he was widely known and highly respected. He was 32 years of age February 19. His wife Mrs. Silva Moore Albertson was at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Moore near Braden and did not reach the Albertson home until late last night. A son Johnny Melvin Albertson four years old in July, also survives. The mother, Mrs. Ben Albertson lives at the Albertson home which is about a mile from the N. and W. station in the village. There are also three daughters, Mrs. Mary Edgington, Mrs. Carrie Braden of McDermott and Miss Marie Albertson at home.

There are distant relatives in Portsmouth. Mr. Albertson was a member of the Jr. O. U. A. M. of McDermott.

Mrs. Ray Woten and mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Woten, returned to Ashland, Ky. Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Troy Boggs.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Clark (McMired) of Columbus, who were married Saturday in Huntington, W. Va., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Harrison of Selotville.

Charles M. Schwab, steel magnate has just been called on by President Coolidge. Now, just as he is descending the White House steps, he is calling a taxi.

Fifty-eight of the teachers, mothers and friends of the Garfield school Parent-Teachers Association went to Beach Haven, the beautiful summer home of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Stewart, Saturday afternoon for an outing. The afternoon was spent in music and games, the music being furnished by the United Brethren Intermediate Christian Endeavor Orchestra.

Mrs. Irene Stone added much enjoyment to the occasion by giving several delightful songs and readings. At 4:30 a picnic dinner was served and included creamed chicken, mashed potatoes and gravy, baked beans, slaw, ice cream, cake and coffee.

The tables were attractively arranged in the long screened-in dining porch. An interesting feature of the occasion was a program on the song, "It Ain't Gonna Rain, No More," composed and sung by the teachers complimentary to the mothers on the dinner.

The committee in charge included Mrs. Charles Turner, Mrs. M. J. Smith, Mrs. Ollie Adkins, Mrs. J. A. Levi, Mrs. B. F. Stewart, Mrs. W. S. Haney. They were assisted by Mrs. Clara Pollard, Mrs. E. C. Lang, Mrs. H. E. Foster, Mrs. C. A. Rowe, Mrs. D. Dains and Mrs. Clarence Turner.

STOMACH FELT LIKE A WEIGHT

But John C. Beiswanger, of Reading, Says Paw Paw Rid Him of the Pain

"I was home, under the doctor's care, from December 19 to February 18, with severe stomach trouble," writes John C. Beiswanger, 608 Tulpehocken St., Reading, Pa.

"My stomach felt like a heavy weight, which moved as I moved my body. This caused a distressed feeling constantly, and after eating, would cause pain. On February 18, I purchased my first bottle of Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic. Today I can honestly say my stomach is as well as it ever was."

What Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic did for Mr. Beiswanger, it can do for YOU. Try it. It costs only $1 a bottle at any good drug store. "There's a Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic in every town."

Coolidge

Mr. Coolidge's reply was an assertion of leadership that is nothing less than a sensation. He told the Senators that his first address to Congress last December was the program on which he went before the American people—namely support of the World Court even though created by the League—and that in subsequent address he had reiterated that view. During all that time—since last December—Mr. Coolidge points significant to the fact that he had in a sense gone to the country on the issue and that the delegates to the next Republican convention had been elected in the primaries on the basis of the Coolidge program as announced in the interval. The President says he cannot alter his position now and keep faith with the delegates elected.

This means that Mr. Coolidge feels the Republican national platform should correspond to his own view on the world court even though action may not be obtained at this session of Congress beyond a report from the Senate Foreign Relations committee. Mr. Coolidge feels also that he is bound by the pledge he gave when he took the oath of office, namely to support the major policies of the late President Harding. In conversation, Mr. Coolidge refers to his own position always as being in favor of the proposal presented by Mr. Harding to the Congress. Under such circumstances can the Cleveland convention repudiate the late President Harding as well as the nominee, President Coolidge? The outlook now is that Mr. Coolidge will force the convention to insert a plank favoring American membership in the present court with reservations; distinctly stating that this time war involves American membership in the League of nations itself.

Kidnapping

Then when the lad's nude body was found last Thursday, the body was laid to rest yesterday afternoon attended by classmates at the private school he was leaving when last seen alive last Wednesday.

Early today three men riding in an automobile answering the description of a machine said to have loitered near the private school attended by young Frank's several days before he disappeared, were seized at Summit, Ill., about twenty miles from here and brought to Chicago for questioning.

There was some effort to connect the disappearance of Gertrude Barker, 17, with the kidnapping of young Frank. The girl has been missing since Wednesday when she left an academy near the school attended by the murdered lad. Her usual course home would have taken her past the corner at which the boy was last seen.

Miss Barker's relatives fear that she might have been a witness of the Frank's kidnapping and therefore been taken along by the kidnappers for that reason, and efforts to find the kidnappers were increased. A florist who sent a wreath bearing the name of Johnson, to the funeral of the kidnapping victim yesterday, is positive he could identify the man who gave him the order. The letter demanding $10,000 ransom sent to Mr. Frank after his son was found, was signed "George Johnson." The flower sender was described by the florist as of the type built up in theory by the police as the possible owner of a pair of spectacles found near the boy's body.

The police continue to look to examinations of typewriters and oculists' prescription records for clues, the run-demand letter, having been type written expertly and the prescription for the glasses carefully worked out.

Important book on motor power. Send coupon.

Get more power—yet save 30% on gas!

Engineers prove this possible for any car. Two years of tests

Your motor is rated for certain power.

Now you can have it. Power—speed—flexibility. New pleasure for driving.

And save 30% of what gas costs you a year!

Note curve on chart

In the chart above we give you two important bits of information. Note the column of type at left-hand side of the chart. That tells the requirements gas must meet to give real power, real flexibility. Because all gas is made up of combustible units. The first 10% of them should give quick starting. The second 10%—flying pick-up. The rest, solid pulling-power, speed, mileage.

Now note how the curve of PUROL performance coincides at every point with the ideal requirements! It gives the combustible units needed. That's because it is refined to specifications built on actual motor needs.

30% savings proved

Gas that gives full power also reduces upkeep in general. And the other way around. For two years our engineers have tested PUROL—in 38 different cars. Records of these tests prove:

That PUROL gives 3.3% greater mileage. That PUROL burns cleanly—saving 14.2% of the fuel that usually drips down into the crankcase. That is the way PUROL saves $2.98 a year on lubricating oil. And through the greater efficiency of up-diluted lubricating oil, saves $10.33 a year in general repairs.

The average car used 500 gallons of gasoline a year. Thus the first two PUROL savings—87% gallons at 20c—are $17.50. The four together show a yearly saving of $30.81. 30% of the average gasoline expense!

Now you make a test

In a year PUROL will show you a saving of 30%. But you can test its greater power-performance in an hour's driving. Make such a test next time you need gas. You'll fairly feel the new response from your motor.

Get PUROL at any Pure Oil Service Station, or of any Pure Oil dealer. You'll know them by the pumps painted "Pure Oil blue."

And PUROL quality never varies. Whenever or wherever you get it, you'll get this same efficient performance.

Impressive Exercises Mark the Laying of Cornerstone of Central Baptist Church

The cornerstone of the new Central Baptist church being erected at the corner of Young street and Robinson avenue, which will be the successor of the Kendall Avenue Baptist church, was laid yesterday afternoon, with impressive ceremonies. The exercises lasted one hour and the interesting program was given before a large and attentive audience.

Long before the hour arrived for the opening the crowd began to assemble and the band from New Boston directed by Oliver Freeman entertained the assembly with special selections.

Promptly at 2 o'clock the pastor, Mr. E. L. Barnhart and those on the program mounted the speaker's platform by means of a ladder, near the place where the cornerstone was to be laid and where the following program was carried out:

Hymn: "How Firm a Foundation," was sung by all. The pastor read appropriate scriptures and led in prayer, after which Rev. James MacPhail, pastor of the Immigrant Baptist church, New Boston, was introduced and delivered a splendid and practical address on "The Purpose and Business of the Church." The history of the church from its beginning was read by the church clerk, Mrs. Bertha S. Arrington.

Bits of the history are interesting, the church being the outgrowth of a well-planned Sunday school. On June 22, 1901, the Sunline Sunday school was organized in the school house at Ninth and Kendall avenue. The attendance at the first session was 87, with an offering of $2.65. Thurman F. Sowers who worked untiringly in the effort to get the work started was elected Superintendent. He filled this office until September 1, 1904, when he went to Greenville College, leaving W. C. Roof to take his place.

On September 1, 1905, the school was forced to move out of the school building to a smaller house across the street, where services were held until January 1, 1907, when the school house was again opened to them.

On December 15, 1904, the Sunday School bought a lot on the corner of Ninth and Kendall, paying $350, a big sum to them. In December, 1905, the name was changed from Sunline School to Kendall Avenue Baptist Sunday school. The membership struggled forward under the direction of Mr. Sowers, who preached during his college vacation periods and Mr. Roof. The first ordained pastor was Rev. W. C. Mayhew.

On Tuesday, September 17, 1907, a contract was let for a frame church building to cost $1,500. Isaac Meade generously donated the foundation and the C. C. Bode Company, the corner stone. The teachers and officers in the school at that time were Superintendent W. C. Roof; Secretary, Grace Wessel; Treasurer, Norman Wessel; teachers, Gertrude E. Sowers, Winnie Davis, Estella Davis, Freda Wessel, Mrs. Ella Roof, Bertha S. Wheeler and Nora Vaughn.

The cornerstone was laid September 21, 1907. On January 17, 1908, a regular missionary Baptist church was organized and recognized by a council called for that purpose. Rev. P. C. Keffer, pastor of the First Baptist church, was moderator of that council. Charter members were 27 in number and were as follows: Charter Members—Estella Davis, Winnie Davis, Elizabeth Davis, Edward Hamilton, William Maye, Oliver Maye, W. C. Roof, Ella Roof, Lucy Seely, Shirley Seely, Lee Warnock, Nora Vaughn, Freda Wessel, Grace Warden, Norman Wessel, Bertha S. Wheeler, Amanda Willis, Thomas Wilkoff, Eliza Shelton, Earl Benson, John Benson, Martha Benson, Ethel Benson, Della Douler, Myrtle Wessel, Louisa Wessel and Cassie Buckley.

Of this number eight retain their membership in the church.

The present frame structure was sold in 1913 to the N. and W. The new site was purchased with the proceeds at once. The first meeting of the present building committee was January 2. Richmond and Wile were chosen architects and ground was broken in March. The present membership is 105.

The present officers are: Pastor—E. L. Barnhart. Deacons—J. R. Buckley, Sr., A. K. Wheeler. Trustees—Jenkins Davis, F. A. Arrington and W. R. Cantter. Treasurer—F. A. Arrington. Clerk—Bertha S. Arrington. Secretary of Benevolent Fund—Grace Buckley. Secretary of Religious Fund—Ruth V. Lewis. Jenkins Davis and Mrs. Bertha S. Arrington have held their respective offices ever since the organization of the church.

The Building Committee includes J. R. Buckley, Chairman; Mrs. Winnie Landwehr, Secretary; Fred Arrington, Mrs. Bertha S. Arrington, A. K. Wheeler, Mrs. Ruth V. Lewis, Miss Ruth Davis, Mrs. Roscoe Cooper and Rev. E. L. Barnhart.

Teamster Falls Dead After Fight; Arrest Made

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., May 26.—Dolphus (Doc) Watts, 38, a teamster, 1551 1-2 Eighth avenue, was dead in the morning of the fatal fight which took place last night and Sunday afternoon at 3:40 o'clock, and in less than an hour afterwards Ferguson was arrested by Patrolman John Maynard at Twenty-second street and Third avenue and taken to headquarters. No effort was made to secure his release on bond fixed by Judge Matthews in common pleas court.

Different versions of what actually happened were told the police by persons purporting to have been eye-witnesses to the fight, some claiming that the fight was over a brick, while others contended that the man now held on a murder charge used only his fists.

CATARRH CONQUERED!

Few understand how important a part the mucous membranes have in health. They absorb and discharge all the food and waste material of the body.

So when they become inflamed or congested, the whole system suffers. And when that inflammation is chronic, we call it catarrh. It may be almost any place in the body—nose, throat, stomach, bowels. It will soon affect every bodily function.

Scientists have fought catarrh ever since medicine became an art. Now the result of unnumbered experiments has brought together ingredients from many parts of the world, and catarrh has met its master in

Excelsior Shoe Factory Man Follows His Wife's Advice

Thanks to the suggestion of his wife, Mr. L. H. Welte, of 1640 E. Seventh street, is now once again in good health and able to keep on with his work in The Excelsior Shoe Factory.

"I told my husband to try taking Peppen," said Mrs. Welte, "and it has surely done him lots of good."

"All winter he has been run down and nervous. He complained of having that first, worn-out, don't-care feeling. His sleep was not sound and in the mornings he felt exhausted and hardly able to go to work."

"We read so much about Peppen and I know of several people who had been benefited by it, so I got Mr. Welte to give it a trial."

"Really the first dose seemed to help him. A day or so after he began taking it I saw his appetite was improving. Then he said he was feeling better all over. Now he is in good health. His nerves are stronger and he sleeps sound at night."

"I know from my husband's experience that Peppen is a fine medicine and for this reason I want to recommend it to the people of Portsmouth."

PRISONERS ARRAIGNED; 11 PLEAD GUILTY

Of sixteen persons indicted by the grand jury Monday, eleven pleaded guilty and were sentenced to the reformatory, while five others pleaded not guilty to the charges brought against them and will stand trial.

Edwin Frank, 22, Scitoville, sheet mill worker, pleaded guilty to larceny in connection with the theft of 100 chickens valued at $75, from C. A. Tomlinson, and he was sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory while his brother, John Frank, pleaded not guilty through Attorney J. P. Kibble, to four indictments charging larceny. He was released on bond pending trial.

Leonard Riley, 23, jointly indicted with Edwin Frank for larceny, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the Reformatory, but the sentence was later suspended pending good behavior when Prosecutor Skelton and Sheriff Dunham advised the court that the youth had aided the officers in clearing up a series of thefts of chickens and other property from farmers in various parts of the county. Riley's home is at Wakefield and he is a brother-in-law of John Frank.

Mrs. Eva Ward, 20, New Boston, admitted guilt of passing a bogus $20 check issued in the name of C. M. Burton on the Mansfield Reformatory for women at Mansfield. She declared that the check was given her by a man named Bruce Hensley.

"Big Pete" Harris, 60, negro, was sentenced to from one to three years in the state penitentiary when he pleaded guilty to a third offense of violating the liquor laws.

James Harris, 32, negro, was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary under his plea of guilty, to wearing wearing apparel and other property valued at $20 from John Jackson at Lakeside, May 1.

Jackson Blakely, 23, negro, will get his mail at the Mansfield Reformatory for an indefinite time because he admitted robbing it.

John Jackson and Sester Hopkins of Scitoville, pleaded guilty to a gun on March 24. Blakely claimed the complainant had cheated him out of $30 in a gambling game in N. & W. camp cars at Clifford on pay day, but Prosecutor Skelton told the court that the grand jury investigation not only discredited Blakely's story, but indicated that the accused had entered the camp cars, drew a big "cat" and forced his victims to shell out their money into his hat.

James Wilson, 28, negro, was sentenced to jail for sixty days for gunning and George Eiler, alias Paul Williams, claiming Bluffton, Ohio, as his home, was sent to jail for thirty days for carrying a black-jack. Eiler had the weapon in his possession when he was arrested at Barden following some trouble at Barden.

John Shaffer, 35, was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary under his plea of guilty to manufacturing distilled liquor. Shaffer lived at Brown's Run, West Side and was arrested March 11 when caught operating a still.

Frank Stevens, 20 years old, was sentenced to the Reformatory for one year when he pleaded guilty to manufacturing distilled liquor. He was caught on May 15 by state prohibition officers operating a still at the head of Pond Creek.

George Green Wolfenbarger, 19, of Smith, Greenup county, Kentucky, pleaded guilty to attempting to pass a worthless $10 check in the name of W. M. Bentley at a Chillicothe street restaurant. He was sentenced to the Reformatory. In view of the past good record of the accused the court later suspended the sentence pending good behavior, Judge Thomas being led to give this youth another chance when it appeared that Wolfenbarger had been made the "goal" by an older man named Mack, who showed a clean bill of health and escaped the police when he discovered that his companion had been apprehended.

Dan Stevens, 50, Pond Creek farmer, charged with pointing firearms at State Dry Officers Ropp, Farmer, Bayham and Hutchinson, pleaded not guilty and he was released on $100 bond pending trial. Attorney H. L. Small will defend the accused.

Andrew Baver, aged West Side man, denied guilt of manufacturing distilled liquor and he was released

"B-r-r-r-r!" "Is this police station?" "Yes, sir." "This is Frank Sheridan, advertising manager of the Times." "Yes, yes, go on." "Well, some one stole my machine this morning while parked in front of the Scioto Motor company's sales room at 1622 Gallia street." "Give us a full description of your machine," said Chief Arthur. "Oh, its painted dark, has four good tires, an extra one, and everything," Mr. Sheridan said. "All right we will telephone to all nearby cities to intercept the thief." But before many calls could be made by Chief Arthur, Mr. Sheridan's machine was driven back to the Scioto Motor company's sales room, where it reposed gently until he claimed it and was greatly relieved. "My mistake," said an employee of the company, who had climbed into the wrong machine to go on an errand.

Fall In Which Woman Is Injured Blamed On Banana Pie

Banana peelings have played a big part in the falls and tumbles of many but it remained for a banana pie to play an important role in a fall down a cellar steps taken by Mrs. L. Sester of 420 Stinton street, Sunday about noon. She had just prepared a banana pie for the noon day meal and was taking it down the cellar to cool when she slipped on a cellar step and rolled down several steps into a box at the bottom of the cellarway. ## Express Companies Liable For Actual Value Of Race Horses

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Express companies were held by the supreme court today to be liable to owners for the actual value of race horses shipped in express cars, and not merely for the value placed upon them at the time of shipment.

The case grew out of a shipment from Latonia, Ky., to Windsor, Canada, and the horses killed in a railroad accident were valued at the time of shipment at $500 and the rate was made on that valuation, but afterward the owner sought to pay the actual value was $50,000. The lower court awarded damages on that basis but in appealing the case, the Adams Express Company contended that such a practice would constitute rebating.

Girl Editor

Hazel Samuelson of Iowa City, Iowa, a journalism student at the University of Iowa, has been named editor-in-chief of The Daily Iowan, the university's daily student newspaper.

Fred Austin, 22, colored, is in Hempstead hospital, suffering from a bullet wound in the back, while Gordon Nance and wife are in the New Boston jail, held in connection with the shooting of Nance, which occurred at Lakeside early this afternoon. Nance and his wife are also colored. The man is said to have been the gun user and his wife an accomplice. They will be held pending the outcome of Austin's obituary. New Boston police are investigating the shooting.

According to the village officers who made the arrest Austin was seated in a room of his home in Lakeside when Gordon Nance and wife walked up to the door and opened fire on Austin's back. They claim Nance had two guns and that his wife took one of them and also fired at Austin who had his back to the couple and did not know they were around until they opened fire on him. Police were unable to determine the cause of the shooting but are investigating and expect to learn the cause when they get a chance to talk with the wounded man who conducts the Lakeside rooming house and dance hall.

Dachter's ambulance was called and Austin was removed to Hempstead hospital where he was placed on the operating table at 2:45 with Dr. T. H. McCann of New Boston probing for the bullet which entered the lower part of the back. The revolver taken from Nance and wife are 35 calibre Smith and Wesson guns and one shell was empty in each gun officials say. Constable McCormick and Cockrell and State Prohibition Officer Ropp made the arrests at Lakeside.

PARIS, May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Poincare will make what is expected to be his last political speech for some time to come when he opens the session of the department council of the Meuse at Bar Leduc tomorrow.

The discourse, it is understood, will be both an explanation of his defeat at the polls and a defense of his policy.
The defeat he attributes to a defective electoral law, permitting the formation of temporary and ill-assorted conditions to be soon dissolved, leaving the parties in a state of chaos.

Vindicating the accomplishments of his government the Premier will point out that he is leaving the finances of the state better than he found them, despite the German default, "His Russian policy he will seek to show, has been endorsed in salutary fashion by the reparation experts and is on the point of bearing fruit through interallied accord."

ANNUAL Roll Call WHITE TRUCK FLEETS OF 10 OR MORE

The pyramid at the right pictures the growth of the White Roll Call year by year since 1910. The scale, however, represents only the White Trucks in fleets of ten or more. Tens of thousands of additional Whites are being operated singly or in fleets of less than ten.

Y E A R	TOTAL TRUCKS	TEN OR MORE

THIS year again the White Roll Call tells transportation's biggest truck story.

755 of the country's foremost truck owners are operating 28,166 White Trucks in fleets of 10 or more. . .
This is an increase of 162 owners and 6,393 trucks over last year's record.

Truck by truck, name by name, year by year, the building of the White Roll Call has gone on, twice around the 7-year business cycle.
Experience and comparison have speeded standardization on Whites.
Among the tens of thousands of owners of smaller White fleets or single White Trucks are names that will be on a future White Roll Call.

If you are going to buy a truck or a fleet—get this White Roll Call.
Check it over and read the familiar names—firms right here in your city whose trucks you see every day.
Check it over for the names of leading companies in any truck-using line of business—in your own business. You'll find them there.

Ever increasing hundreds of experienced, astute buyers express lasting faith in White Truck dependability, durability and economy by pyramiding their investments to millions of dollars. White Trucks justify this faith.

Only by consistently giving the most money-earning miles in all lines of business, everywhere, could White Trucks make the White Roll Call what it is—

A fact structure defying imitation.
No other truck manufacturer has ever published such a record. No other truck manufacturer can.

Get this wonderful record. The booklet—The White Roll
Call—will be sent you free by The White Company, 842 E.
79th Street, Cleveland, Ohio, or by the branch office indicated below. Write or call. We will be glad to send, too, other booklets dealing with the performance of White Trucks in specific industries.

Aspire to Reach Highest Plane Possible, Rev. Severinghaus Tells New Boston Graduates

Renowned high school auditorium New Boston, Mass., was filled Sunday night when Rev. C. E. Severinghaus of Franklin Avenue M. E. church delivered the graduation sermon at the New Boston high school. The sermon subject was "A Generation of Builders." Special music was furnished by the Organists of the church.

The class motto is "Build for Character." Not for Fame, Rev. Severinghaus told for his text. He said: "Let us rise up and build, God of Heaven. He will prosper us; therefore we, his servants, will arise and build."

In part Rev. Severinghaus said: "The temple in Jerusalem had been dedicated by Nehemiah. In 444 B. C. Nehemiah came from Babylon with imperial authority to rebuild the walls about the city, which for over a century lay unoccupied and useless. He and his helpers have taken in the situation, declared in the words of the text, 'The God of Heaven, he will prosper us; therefore we, his servants, will arise and build.'"

The present generation has just passed through a period of destruction, such as the world has never known. Human life and property were ruthlessly dealt with and destroyed. It will require more than one generation to restore the loss and to pay off the transmitted debt of the nations. The millions of lives that were sacrificed were taken very largely from the ranks of our young people. And now the rebuilding of the world will be placed upon the shoulders of our youth, the class of men and women to which you belong.

Looking at it individually, it may at first seem to be an impossible task. However, in a spirit of cooperation and unity, and with groups like this graduating class before us, who have expressed their determination to be builders and with the promises of help from God, on their side, the work will be accomplished, and those of the older generation may take heart.

During the period of the war and up until last year there was a slump in the building program for God and humanity.

of our country and of the whole world. But now, look about you, and everywhere you see that folks are saying: "Let us rise and build." All of this indicates clearly that we are entering upon a more constructive period. And this is true, not only in the building of houses and stores and factories, but along all lines of human life and activity. And in this work of reconstruction it becomes your privilege to have a major part.

We are Builders.

Builders of our own fortunes and destinies. Life is largely what we make it. We are building the houses in which we ourselves are to live. We build systems of philosophy and religion. Builders of the government under which we are to live and serve. Builders of the community in which we are casting our lot for the period of our natural life. Builders of character, our own and that of others, whose lives we are influencing by our daily contact with the world. We are building, not only for time, but for eternity.

"Life is real, life is earnest. And the grave is not its goal; Dust thou art, to dust returnest, Was not spoken of the soul." That we may build well is therefore of supreme importance to each one of us.

Where and What to Build.

Have you ever noticed the birds flying about to find a place to build their nests? How interesting. But infinitely more interesting, to see young people stepping out onto the larger platform of life, looking about them to find a place where they may spend their life in the service of mankind.

These members of the graduating class have been ascending on the ladder of education and have now reached the twelfth rung of the ladder. Others have gotten off at the eighth rung and have chosen that as the plane for their life. No doubt, some of these will decide to continue to climb until they have finished a college course, and get off at the sixteenth rung. Some may go higher than that. Remember, the higher you climb, the fewer are the competitors of life. Aspire to reach the highest plane possible, and there make your life a help to God and humanity.

What We Are To Put Into This Building?

Your school years may be considered a digging down to find an adequate foundation upon which to rear your superstructure. The greater the building is to be, the more carefully must the foundation be laid. Both the digging down to the foundation and the rearing of the building will call for an investment of BRAIN and BRAWN; for SWEAT and EFFORT. There are those who are trying to succeed in getting through life like this description of a "Nuts Soudy."

"Stay abed until tea. Read the Sunday paper until one. Feed your face until three. Lay around until five. Nothing doing. Nothing done. Good Night!"

We must put into our building that which will benefit us permanently. Then also that which will be a real contribution to the world and society. According to your motto, not for the sake of fame, but for character; and that carries with it a life of service for others.

In the materials gathered for your building you will need to consider carefully the needs of the life threefold. In a well balanced life there must be the development of the physical, the intellectual, the social, and last but not least, the spiritual.

The Assurance of Success in Life.

"The God of Heaven, he will prosper us." We can only serve God in the service of humanity. Unless we declare ourselves absolutely to be the servants of God, we have no reason nor right to expect the help and encouragement which must come from him. Prov. 3:6, "In all thy ways, acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths." This has been the chosen motto of my life, in which I believe with all my heart. "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it."

RANKS SHOW GAINS

COLUMBUS, O., May 26.—Banks in seven of the eight largest cities of the state made a steady increase in resources between the calls of April 3, 1923, and March 31, 1924, it was shown in a report today by H. E. Scott, state superintendent of banks. The only city in which gains were not made was in Dayton.

Ah, These Are The Happy Days: Kiddies Put On Circus of Their Own

For ten days and more there was tremendous activity, much devising and intense eagerness among the juvenile population around Tracy park, which finally culminated Saturday afternoon, in the announcement of the Big Gay Street Circus, giving one of its resplendent performances in Distel's garage.

"The tent" was crowded and the peals of laughter that flowed constantly, therefrom showed the spectators were getting their five and three cents' worth.

One of the performers furnished the Times with the following program:

William Kings—Manager.
Nellie Margaret Distel and William Hinzels—Acrobats.
Dan O'Keefe, James Distel, and Paul Fenner—Clowns.
Mary Hazelbeck and Mary Elizabeth Distel—Tambourines.

Georgia Anne Distel—Angel Dance.
Ruth Hazelbeck, Alberta Ward—Dance.
Nellie Margaret Distel, Mary Vallee Harold—Deaf and Dumb.
Ruth Hazelbeck—Russian Mother's Lullaby.

Alberta Ward, Mary Vallee Harold—Skin Dancers.
Alberta Ward—Jazz Dance.
Skeezick's Wedding, a most amusing conception of the youngsters, brought the show to a conclusion. The bride, Mary Hazelbeck, who has been married 22 times, was dressed in white, and with a lace curtain as a veil, Dan O'Keefe, the groom, had been married 17 times. Alberta Ward, in a pink page suit, carried the veil, Ruth Hazelbeck was flower girl, Ruth Eileen Ward was maid of honor, and Mary Vallee Harold and Nellie Margaret Distel, bridesmaids.

Mrs. White Taught Conference Classes

The New Jersey Spokesman of Camden, New Jersey, had the following complimentary notice concerning Mrs. Louise E. White, the business manager of Second street, this city: "Mrs. Louise E. White, of Portsmouth, Ohio, president of the Ohio Branch of the Mite Missionary Society, was one of the distinguished visitors at the General Conference, Louisville, Ky., May 5-23rd. Mrs. White was the only woman called upon to teach a Sunday School Class in the great auditorium at the General Conference, and taught the class the two Sundays that she was at the conference. She is a great missionary worker and race woman." Mrs. White also visited the A. M. E. Zion General conference in session at the same time in Indianapolis, Ind., and reports a very enlightening time at both conferences.

Troops In U. S. Operating Against Enemy, Holds Count

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Troops in assignments in this country during the World War in training to go overseas, were "operating against an enemy," the supreme court held today.

The government raised the question in a case against Charles J. Ferris who during a part of the war served by order of the commanding general of the 50th Division as colonel of the 135th Field Artillery in training at Camp Lee, Virginia. Colonel Ferris at the time of his assignment was Lieutenant Colonel of the 34th Field Artillery, and the court claims held that he was entitled to the pay of "serving with troops operating against an enemy."

The government contended that the only troops operating against the enemy were those overseas.

New Summer Millinery Arrives at Andersons

What woman will not delight in seeing the fascinating new shapes and colors in the charming summer millinery that has just arrived in such gay profusion at Andersons?

White of course, rules, deftly relieved in most cases by brightly colored bands of silk ribbon or embroidery or perhaps, wee flowers in the daintiest of summer shades.

Gay little creations of Bangkok, Hemp, Milan and Leghorn with tiny roll brims for Sports Wear; picturesque Party or Dress Hats with large, floppy brims that droop alluringly about the face for the more formal occasions are here in alluring variety.

Trimmings are interesting in their unexpected variety and adaptation. Here a delicate pastel colored silk makes a facing on cheery Leghorn, there bright embroidery enhances a Dressy Sport model. Ribbons and Flowers and Lace and Milan Braid too, add many a smart effect.

Do come in and see them for yourself. Decoration Day is Friday and one must by all means have a summer hat on that day, you know.

Scene IV—Mount Olympus.

Minerva was the goddess of wisdom, but on one occasion she did a very foolish thing; she entered competition with Juno and Venus for the prize of beauty. It happened thus: At the nuptials of Peleus and Thetis, all the gods were invited with the exception of Eris, or Discord. Enraged at her exclusion the goddess threw a Golden Apple among the guests with the inscription, "For the most beautiful." Thereupon Juno, Venus and Minerva each claimed the apple. Jupiter not willing to decide in so delicate a matter, sent the goddess to Mount Ida where the beautiful shepherd Paris was tending his flocks, and to him was committed the decision. The goddesses accordingly appeared before him. Juno promised him power and riches, Minerva glory and renown in war, and Venus the fairest of the women for his wife, each attempting to bias his decision in her own favor. Paris decided in favor of Venus, and gave her the Golden Apple, thus making the two goddesses his enemies. Seats may be reserved at the Corner Book Store tomorrow and also at the door tonight and tomorrow night. Admission is twenty-five and thirty-five cents.

Big Demand for Seats

Christians Are Dealt Damaging Blow

TOKIO, May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—According to the Hochi and other newspapers the small native Christian churches have been dealt a damaging blow by the passage of the American immigration bill with its clause excluding Japanese. These journals declare that the action on the immigration bill has made the Japanese distrust the missionaries and their teachings have been influential in causing many Japanese Christians to leave the churches.

Native Christian leaders are quoted in the vernacular press as saying that few Japanese believe in Christianity, as it is taught by missionaries here, considering it a sham and the missionaries' professions of Christian humanity, justice and brotherhood false.

These leaders are quoted as saying the effect of the exclusion clause will be the divorcing of native churches from the American mission bodies, which may in the long run be beneficial as encouraging the remaining Japanese Christians to stand unsupported by foreigners.

WANTED By Science TWINS

Why Biologists Say They Can Settle the Age-Old Squabble Over Heredity and Environment by a Twenty-Year Test of "True Twins."

The Beauty of "True Twinship" in Appearance and Apparel: Center, Left to Right, Dorothy and Margaret Hurt, New York Society Girls, and on Either Side the Misses Libby and Margaret Keene, Famous Dancers.

By W. B. SEABROOK.

GIVE us a pair of identical human twins," says science, "and we may be able to solve the eternal mystery of life."

That mystery, according to science, is the relative power of heredity and environment to mould living creatures.

Plainly, is a man what he is because of inherited characteristics which he can't fight against or change? Or is he the product of circumstances and surroundings? Or is he a mixture of both, and if so, in what proportion?

Science thinks it can give the answer if anybody has a pair of identical twin babies which can be loaned for twenty years or so, to use in the experiment.

Send them by parcel post to Professor David Fairchild, of the Journal of Heredity; or to C. H. Danforth, of Washington University; or to Professor Horatio Hackett Newman, of Chicago University.

They have made a lot of experiments with twin armadillos, and have discovered many interesting physiological facts, but the psychology of a baby armadillo is difficult to fathom, so now they would like to make a few observations on human babies.

Twins who merely happened to be born at the same time won't do. They want true twins, identical twins, formed by the halving of the same life cell.

Identical twins are the only human beings in the world having the same heredity, according to Professor David Fairchild, writing in the Journal of Heredity. If science can find out the characteristic ways in which they remain the same through life, the qualities, habits and mannerisms which persist unchanged in them both, in spite of their living in entirely different surroundings, the world will learn much more than has been heretofore known about what attributes are heredity and fixed, and what are those which can be modified by environment and education.

Two identical twins, separated as babies, brought up in different towns or cities, under entirely different circumstances, not knowing each other, would, if examined by science in after years, give a clear idea of what changes in body, mental and moral character, are due to things we eat, exercises we take, associations we make and work we do—in short, to our environment. Such an experiment would also show just what can be correctly traced to our very beginnings in that momentous fusing of the two parent cells that began our lives.

As another famous biologist says: "It is wonderful and almost passing belief that a tiny microscopic cell holds so much of our destiny within itself, and that it contains the mechanism which will determine the color of our eyes, the shape of our nose, the love for music, the taste for literature, for law, or for science, the quickness of temper or sullenness of disposition, perhaps even our moral characteristics—all that, the generations of our ancestors give us, concentrated in this tiny cell."

If heredity amounts to so much, one naturally asks, why is there so much difference between ordinary brothers and sisters, since both have the same parents, grandparents and ancestors, all the way back to the ark? As one thinks of brothers and sisters, known in real life, this question seems to puncture the attitude of science by the application of common sense. There are brothers who hate each other, and who differ in moral manners, tastes, everything. One brother may be an artist and the other a day laborer. One may be subtle, intelligent, charming, original, keen-witted, and the other brother, in the same family, may be what is popularly known as a "dub" at everything.

It is the same with sisters. One may be, in the language of Grimm's Fairy Tales, "as good as she is beautiful" and as beautiful as she is good, and the other may be as homely as mud and as wicked as Old Nick. Same parents, same heredity, you argue; and therefore there's nothing to it.

But that is exactly where science comes in with its technical knowledge. It knows that while two brothers or two sisters have the same ancestors and the same inheritance to draw from, the inherited characteristics can be combined into millions of different arrangements and patterns. Because they are, in fact, so differently arranged in every new life cell each new life cell produces a totally different individual.

Although a brother and sister inherit the same ancestors, they inherit them in such a varying arrangement as to make wholly different personalities. The same is true of fraternal twins—that is, two babies who are born of separate cells, but who merely happen to be born at the same time.

It sometimes happens, however, that the original cell, created from the parent male and female cells, splits entirely in two. In this case true twins result, human beings that have exactly the same inherited characteristics—and the same arrangement of these characteristics. In other words, at birth they are two separated parts of an identical being.

If two such twins can be separated at early life and subjected to different environments, the experiment would be of tremendous value.

Why is this question so important? Because, as one noted biologist said in a recent interview: "The matter of heredity and environment involves the entire attitude of human beings toward one another; laws, morals, education, everything." If it were proved scientifically that heredity counted for 90 per cent or 99 per cent, all standards of law and education would have to be changed.

"A man could come into court and experts could prove that he was a drunkard, or a burglar, or a murderer, because of his heredity and consequently he could not help it—that he was foredoomed to become a drunkard, a burglar, or murderer, because of an inherited nature that environment was helpless to change. Obviously, it would be cruel to punish such a man for what he couldn't help. Society might have to lock him up, to protect the majority, but he would henceforth not be considered a bad man, but simply an unfortunate man, like an insane or sick person.

"Within certain limitations, it would do away with the entire doctrine of free will, and in the realm of morals and religion make a 'hash' that it would take hundreds of years for the professors and theologians to straighten out.

"In the realm of education the results would be the same. Instead of having a standardized system of public schools, which operates on the theory that all children are more or less alike, and that some are merely smart and others lazy, scientific tests would be used much more than they are to-day. When it was discovered that a certain child was dull or slow-witted, parents and state would stop wasting money on the education of that child, and bring it up to become a day laborer or whatever else it was fitted for. They would leave it to be dull for the rest of its life, because if science actually made such a discovery—they would know it was no use to waste time, taxes, schooling and money to make such a child different. And if the child happened to have a naturally smart brother, there would be twice as much time and money available to spend on him and make him even smarter.

"The real trouble between science and the moralist is this: Science, if it is real science, is concerned with only one thing—getting at the truth—the truth, regardless of morality or immorality—regardless of whether it is good for humanity or bad for humanity—the truth for its own sake, whether it makes you a god or proves you an animal—whether it makes you immortal or whether it kills you.

"No true moralist, if he is a real moralist, can understand that attitude, and consequently, the eternal warfare between science and religion, or science and morals."

The experiments and observations of science, up to date, with twins, have seemed to give, hardly and predestination overwhelmingly the best of it—but no conclusions can yet be drawn, as these experiment and observations are loose and fragmentary.

Professor C. H. Danforth, of the University of Washington, sent out a questionnaire to several hundred true twins, and got answers which make him suspect that heredity is something nobody can get away from. He found that in the case of true twins, their gait, the sound of their voices, their reactions to various foods, their susceptibility to diseases, showed a remarkable similarity. One pair wrote, "bananas make us both very sick," and another pair "hated tapioca."

These were mere physiological similarities. Handwriting, which he found similar and in some cases almost identical in true twins, might also be regarded as physiological. But he was astounded when he came to mental and moral traits to find that the similarity persisted. Over and over again he discovered that two true twins enumerated virtually the same list of preferences and aversions. If one twin liked Beethoven and disliked jazz, the other twin felt the same; one pair of girl twins despised mathematics; another pair of girl twins were immoral, and in much the same way; two boy twins were thick-witted and stupid; two girl twins thought exactly alike on subjects of morality, good taste and religion, and even dreamed about the same things.

In every case, however, these obligations were complicated by the fact that both twins had lived in more or less the same environment, and therefore it was impossible to say how much they had been influenced by that as well as by heredity.

If science can find two identical twins whose parents are willing to let them be separated at birth, raised in totally different environments, and then compared, say, when each is twenty years old, it may be able to arrive at some extremely startling conclusions. Even then, nobody need be much bothered by them, outside the ranks of science, for it would take at least fifty such experiments to establish the result on a basis of sure scientific truth. But one pair would do to establish a magnificent "theory," which would suffice for the writing of many learned books.

THE QUEST CONTINUED

THE scientific world is anticipating many archaeological discoveries by the American expedition which will set out this month with Roy Chapman Andrews as its head to uncover the origin of man in the prehistoric rock of the Gobi desert of Asia. In this same desert Andrews, on an earlier expedition, found the bones of prehistoric animals and the giant eggs of the dinosaur. It is on the finding of the dinosaur eggs that he mainly bases his hope of finding the original man within the next five years.

There have been skulls, jaws, bones, skeletons and fossils of early man found in many parts of Europe and Asia, giving an almost unbroken knowledge of man's existence and development since about 550,000 B. C., but the archaeologists are not content. They are not looking for the fabled "missing link" but for the man whom they believe lived on this earth before there had been an ape evolved.

The Gobi desert has been fixed by Andrews as the birthplace of man because of archaeological evidence that the dinosaur, whose eggs he found in the Gobi desert, and the first man were products of the same age and lie buried in the same rock strata awaiting the spade of the archaeologist to find them. The dinosaur has already been exhumed. Andrews says nothing is impossible, not even the finding of the father of all mankind.

THE MAID OF CHICAGO

PITTLING silliness received a proper rebuke when Inez Traxler stood up and derided the entire faculty and student body of Garrett Biblical Institute, Chicago, when they voted they would not go to war, no matter what the conditions.

Hoping to browbeat the valiant maid into agreement with them, after the ayes and nays were called for on the proposition, and she alone had voted No! a standing vote was called for. Defiantly patriotic Miss Traxler rose when the negative was called for.

Glorious, the brave girl did more than that. Unloosening her tongue she scornfully said: "I suppose if the Japanese were to land on our shores tomorrow, you would all stay in your rooms and pray; if an enemy were in the streets of the city, and dragging your families from their homes and outraging them, I suppose you would fall on your knees on the pavement and sing hymns. Bah!"

What shamefully degenerate days we have fallen upon when out of 125 grown, educated persons, only one lone bobbed haired girl has the courage and the common sense patriotism to stand up and say she would fight for country and for home. Of course, not one of the 124 really meant what they all voted, they were just yielding to mawkish sentimentality, that thinks it is promoting religion by profession of stupid and stupefying meekness.

THE MYSTERIOUS

A condition observed in France during the world war furnishes a mystery that now bids fair to hold the attention of the peoples of the globe until solved. It involves zones of silence. It was found that no matter how heavy the commanding in certain places the sound was inaudible although heard distinctly in others farther away. Now tons of melinite are to be exploded at a camp in the center of France as one of a number of tests in an effort to solve the mystery.

These "zones of silence" suggest a complicated mystery, but for centuries what we now look upon as simple leads were ignored. There is the famous story of the falling of an apple as leading Newton to the solution of the problem of gravitation. Countless others had seen the same thing, Newton himself had seen it often, but it was so common as not to have excited special interest. Finally it drove home its lesson to Newton. Savages for centuries had noticed water falls without any thought of their power that might be harnessed to useful purposes—power so vast in the aggregate that it is still scarcely tapped. One day some individual caught the message that the water fall had for centuries been delivering.

In a world from which has come such wonders as the telephone and the wireless, we must realize that we constantly are in the midst of signs that would unlock mysteries for us if only we understood them. But some day, as in the case of Newton and the apple, they will be grasped, and new eras will result.

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys. Awake, betimes and ate a platter of hush and to walk with Gene Burke, the pamphleteer, and we heard Rupert Hughes had left the cinema industry perhaps permanently, it not being to his liking.

Home again where I spoke, seriously to my wife, poor wretch, of a plan to buy bicycles and pedal a long journey, but I suppose nothing will come of it as I find myself more and more given to foolish planning.

In the afternoon some friends in and we fell to discussing what play had most impressed us and I could recall only one that made me weep and that was William Faversham in "The Squaw Man," albeit a rather weak play.

To a dinner in the evening to John McCutcheon, the humorist, and a rollicking time and afterward to walk over a radio but had nothing of interest to say and was never to do it again. So to bed.

No man who has met Herbert Bayard Swope, executive editor of the N. Y. World, can fail to be impressed by his dynamic force. Swope is a child—an explosion. He was born to command. He has a tremendous, booming voice, and everything he does radiates energy. They tell of Swope calling up the manager of a press association one day while in a high pressure mood.

"This is Swope," he announced. "Yes," said the press association executive. "I've heard the name. I can even decline it—sweep, swipe or swope, swept. Right?"

Theatrical producers come from many odd collings. John Golden was a bricklayer. Lee Shubert was a hardscrabble. Brock Pemberton and Charles Dillingham were newspaper reporters. George C. Tyler was a printer. A. L. Brieger was a box office ticket seller. Sam Harris and William A. Brady were prize-fight promoters. Flo Ziegfeld was a clerk in a musical college. Arthur Hopkins was an advertising solicitor. Al Woods sold newspapers. George White was a bus boy. Earl Carroll a theatre usher and Edgar Selwyn was an actor.

Taxi drivers have for years dodged lone women as fares. It was their idea women were skimp with tips. However, it has been learned that women tip the drivers more generously than men.

A new de luxe taxi system is now in operation. There is nothing save the meter to give the idea of a hired conveyance. The fittings are sumptuous and the drivers are uniformed in expensive fashion. A dozen of them are equipped with footmen and the charge is doubled for this bit of exorbitant. Despite New York's taxi habit it has been the fate of most taxi companies to land in bankruptcy.

My critical review of the drama is not worth much. A producer snatched a line from a little opinion I voiced in print and displayed it in the lobby. It read: "A hit—O. O. McIntyre." The play lasted four nights.

The best reviewer in New York in his opinion, "Hollywood Brown." He isn't so concerned with stage technique or construction. He has one rule of judgment and that is: Does the play entertain?

Three rookie cops in New York have gone amok in the past year and created panics by firing off revolvers in cafes. The uniform seems to have given them a superiority complex. In one case two innocent men were killed.

Ralph Barton, a Missouri boy, and one of New York's best known caricaturists, has become an author. His volume, "Rites Without Reason," is out—and shows the amazing versatility of the author. Copyrighted, 1924, by the McNaught Syndicate, Inc.

"Just like him—he never did take a stand on anything."

It Does, Indeed

Son: "Say, pop, what do you call a man who drives an automobile?"
Father: "It all depends on how close he comes to me."

Dad and Uncle Miss a Date

Johnny (at poultry show): "Ma, let's stay until they let the animals out."
Mother: "They don't let them out, dear."

A Man of Leisure

"You say he's the laziest man in Tumberville?"
"Yup. He's so lazy that every morning before he gets up he sends one of his boys down to the store to see what the loafers are arguin' about. If they ain't discussin' on something he wants to argue about, he don't get up."

Same Effect

Fayburn: "How does Armstrong behave at home?"
Greenwood: "The same as in a dentist's chair—afraid to open his mouth."

Albert S. Maier, president and general manager of the Portsmouth Ice and Coal Company, represents a business that has been operating in Portsmouth for nearly fifty years.

Born in Cincinnati, April 2, 1877, Albert S. Maier was brought to Portsmouth by his parents when he was but two years old, and has lived here ever since that time. He was educated in the parochial schools here, and after leaving school entered the business which his father, August Maier, had established 30 years before. In 1907 this was incorporated as the Portsmouth Ice and Coal Company. In addition to his position with the Ice and Coal Company, Mr. Maier is president of the F. & M. Motor Company, owns the Albert S. Maier Ice Factory on West Front street, and is a partner in the Maier-Carpenter Amusement Company, which operates the Arcana and Lincoln motion picture houses.

Mr. Maier is married to Della Florence Grove and they have one daughter, Genevieve, 14 years of age. Mr. Maier is a member of St. Mary's church, the Knights of Columbus, Hays Gari, Elks, Eagles, Owls, Moose and Lions Club.

Mr. Maier is a member of the Chamber of Commerce and his various business affiliations keep him in touch with many aspects of the commercial growth of Portsmouth.

Due to a delay at the engraving plant, some of the cuts for the "Men of Affairs" series were not received in the Times office until during the past week. This made necessary a break in the series which is being continued tonight and will be completed within the next two weeks.
